Create a simple LD-based application

As inspiration have a look at the application we created in Unit 9: a little HTML-page which displays information about authors which have birthday today.

1. Come up with an idea for an application which involves a data source like DBpedia or Wikidata (or any other LD data source or LD dataset) -- pick a topic which you find personally interesting.
2. Create the application: SPARQL queries, display of results (eg. as HTML page).
3. Optional: make it into a simple interactive website
